The bestseller Khushwant Singh Selects Best Indian Short Stories - Volume I, offering the finest stories by India's master storytellers... The Indian short story is extraordinary in its ability to stick to the traditional rules of the craft and still demonstrate remarkable originality. It revolves around a limited number of characters, confines itself in time and space, and has a well-plotted narrative that drives its central theme. Within the traditional framework, however, creativity flowers, and what emerges is a story that is marked with freshness and imagination. This volume is chock-full with such stories, written by authors well known in their regional unravel their tattered domestic peace. An Indian American girl recognizes her cultural identity during a Halloween celebration while the Pakistani civil war rages on television in the background. A latchkey kid with a single working mother finds affinity with a woman from Calcutta. In the title story, an interpreter guides an American family through the India of their ancestors and hears an astonishing confession. Imbued with the sensual details of Indian culture, these stories speak with passion and wisdom to everyone who has ever felt like a foreigner. Like the interpreter of the title story, Lahiri translates between the strict traditions of her ancestors and a baffling new world.

This anthology introduces to the reader some of the best short stories written by famous Indian authors of recent times. It brings together an impressive span of Indian writing in English from the turn of the 19th century to the late 20th century. These stories are representative of the fine art of story writing and the different techniques adopted by writers considered to be the great Indian masters. Famous Short Stories by Indian Writers explores themes that are crucial for the context and study of Indian Writing in English. Stories like Tagore's Kabuliwallah, Premchand's The Voice of God and Masti Venkatesha Iyengar's The Curds Seller locate the individual's identity in the family and community. Other stories in the collection, Mulk Raj Anand's The Gold Watch, Khushwant Singh's Mark Of Vishnu and Manohar Malgonkar's Upper Division Love also provide insights into relationships formed between different social groups, British and Indian, employer and employee, the privileged and the underprivileged.

Boats on Land is a unique way of looking at India's northeast and its people against a larger historical canvas—the early days of the British Raj, the World Wars, conversions to Christianity, and the missionaries. This is a world in which the everyday is infused with folklore and a deep belief in the supernatural. Here, a girl dreams of
