Etymology 'Mama' and 'papa' use speech sounds that are among the easiest to produce: bilabials like /m/, /p/, and /b/, and the open vowel /a/. They are, therefore, often among the first word-like sounds made by babbling babies (babble words), and parents tend to associate the first sound babies make with themselves and to employ them subsequently as part of their baby-talk lexicon.

Step 1, Apologize in person. No matter what, don't try to apologize by text or email. Talking to someone in an emotionally charged situation is difficult, but owning up to what you did will help her to see you are sincere. Step 2, Be sincere. Use a respectful tone, and say your apology in a clear voice. Mumbling implies that you aren't owning up to what you did. If you don't know how to begin, say something like the following statement: "I am truly sorry that I upset you. I know I shouldn't ...

130+ simple recipes for weaning your baby with the foods you and your family love to eat too! Let Rebecca Wilson, the mummy behind @whatmummymakes, show you how to cook simple, healthy, and delicious meals to wean your baby, while also feeding the rest of the family. Organized by type of meal, you'll be able to whip up breakfasts, lunches, and main meals for everyone to enjoy in 10, 15, and 30 minutes. Rebecca's recipes are fresh, accessible, nutritious, and most importantly made with the whole family in mind - which marks this book out from others in the field. Her philosophy is that parents can wean their babies by eating alongside them, adapting grown-up food for babies. Apart from the numerous joys and benefits of sharing family meals, her vision offers the perfect chance for adults to rethink how they eat, too. Rather than putting baby first and opting for fast, unhealthy options themselves, every parent is encouraged to share in nutritious and delicious meals as they introduce their little ones to new foods for the first time. Alongside the recipes, there are a number of features and tips for making life that little bit easier, from learning how to freeze your food to ingredients you should avoid and nutritional food profiles. Every recipe is suitable for babies from 6 months and is nutritionist approved.
