More sales are lost because sales people try to answer objections that don't exist than just about any other reason. Yes, that's right. Many objections are smokescreens hiding the real objection. If you don't get involved in dealing with these "red herrings" you'll have less trouble and you won't run out of persistence and give up.

Isolating Objections - Selling & Persuasion

One way to overcome this objection is to demonstrate past examples of change and how it was positive. For example, show the client a list of different ways the industry has changed over the past 10 to 15 years, and how the potential customer can adapt to those changes. This can help them be less fearful and more confident about changing things up.

7 Common Sales Objections and How to Overcome Them

Objections can display a level of interest? or they can simply mean you've got no chance if the objection is for a valid reason. The key is to anticipate all the likely objections a potential customer is likely to raise and know how you will respond. But dealing with objections is tough.
