The Commercial Driving Business Success Secret That's Just Out of Your Reach (for Now!) Stop what you're doing right now and listen up - your commercial driving or trucking business is doomed, unless you change your mindset immediately. No, being a stellar professional is not enough to win those clients and keep them coming back for more. Did you know that more trucking firms closed down in the first six months of 2019 than in all of 2018? With the way 2020 started out, chances are that even more businesses will have to say, "Hasta la vista, baby!" There are 1.2 million freight transportation companies and 15.5 million trucks being utilized in US territory, which begs the questions: What makes your business different from all of these other service providers? How are you better? How are you capable of meeting your client's needs in a way that surpasses expectations? Whether you're a newcomer to the field or you've been around for some time, chances are that you're scared to death of the competition, the anticipated economic slowdown, and the increasingly growing customer demands. It's tough to grow a commercial transport business, especially if you rely on just a few conventional approaches to find new clients. Increasing your customer base, however, does not have to be difficult or expensive. A simple 3-step system is all it takes to grow your brand, ensure repeat business, and get peace of mind about your long-term financial security. Not only that, but the system can also be used to find experienced drivers and new members to add to your growing team. In CDL Minded Marketing, you will discover: How to stay in business for the long haul, regardless of the fact that this decade is off to a rocky start 9 tangible benefits of having a CDL-minded marketing strategy The secret to lasting customer relationships, even if you don't have a marketing degree to rely on Ways in which freight companies can make the most of both old-school and brand-new, digital marketing Sneaky ways to see what the competition is doing, and then learn from their mistakes A bulletproof strategy for setting up a loyalty program your clients won't know how to resist The one golden way successful commercial drivers get tens of client referrals 10+ channels you should be using to reach new clients The best industry events to attend this year if you want people to know and remember who you are And much more!

3 Steps To Recovery, One Man's Triumph Over Alcohol And Drugs. A Simple Approach to Overcome Any Addiction.

An effective state is essential to achieving socio-economic and sustainable development. With the advent of globalization, there are growing pressures on governments and organizations around the world to be more responsive to the demands of internal and external stakeholders for good governance, accountability and transparency, greater development effectiveness, and delivery of tangible results. Governments, parliaments, citizens, the private sector, NGOs, civil society, international organizations and donors are among the stakeholders interested in better performance. As demands for greater accountability and real results have increased, there is an attendant need for enhanced results-based monitoring and evaluation of policies, programs, and projects. This Handbook provides a comprehensive ten-step model that will help guide development practitioners through the process of designing and building a results-based monitoring and evaluation system. These steps begin with a OC Readiness AssessmentOCO and take the practitioner through the design, management, and importantly, the sustainability of such systems. The Handbook describes each step in detail, the tasks needed to complete each one, and the tools available to help along the way."

Information modelling and knowledge bases have become hot topics, not only in academic communities concerned with information systems and computer science, but also wherever information technology is applied in the world of business. This book presents the proceedings of the 21st European-Japanese Conference on Information Modelling and Knowledge Bases (EJC 2011), held in Tallinn, Estonia, in June 2011. The EJC conferences provide a worldwide forum for researchers and practitioners in the field to exchange results and experiences achieved in computer science and related disciplines such as conceptual analysis, design and specification of information systems, multimedia information modelling, multimedia systems, software engineering, knowledge and process management, cross cultural communication and context modelling. Attention is also paid to theoretical disciplines including cognitive science, artificial intelligence, logic, linguistics and analytical philosophy. The selected papers (16 full papers, 9 short papers, 2 papers based on panel sessions and 2 on invited presentations), cover a wide range of topics, including database semantics, knowledge representation, software engineering,

This document records the oral testimony and written reports of witnesses who testified at a Congressional hearing on moving the United States toward a comprehensive employment training system. Witnesses included members of Congress, state officials, labor representatives, and association officials concerned with employment and training. At the hearing, witnesses took a broader look at the government's ineffective employment and training efforts, which span more than 150 programs operated by 14 federal agencies spending about $25 billion per year. Issues considered include whether and how to reinvent employment and training programs. The witnesses commented on the difficulties caused by the multiplicity of federal programs and the steps that they are taking to overcome the hurdles. (KC)
