The traffic valuation method can be useful for devising a value for a non-monetized site (e.g. sites primed for AdSense) but falls down against other methodologies with its prescriptive approach to traffic-only evaluation. Websites that don't rely on significant traffic (e.g. software or SaaS businesses) to drive revenue, will be valued significantly below fair market price using the traffic valuation method.

How to Value a Website or Internet Business in 2020
The historical approach is to view information technology (IT) as a cost center. Organizations feel they need to fund IT projects in order to support their business. They believe that, although the IT investment is valuable, the actual value enabled by IT is too difficult and too controversial to quantify. They therefore ignore value or treat it qualitatively.
